

DESPERATE HOUSECAT ASLAN A885378

ASLAN was brought to AAC with another cat after their owner passed away. He is very shy and scared, and doesn't understand why he's been uprooted from his home. He spends most of his time hiding, and doesn't seem to like being around other cats (although that may change as he gains confidence). When ASLAN is hiding, it's difficult to pet him, but if he's out in the open, he's more receptive. ASLAN needs a break from the shelter, so an adopter or foster with a lot of cat experience would be ideal for his situation. It may take awhile, but ASLAN needs to be encouraged not to hide, as we believe that once he feels safe and secure, he will warm to humans and be a lovely companion.
