

DESPERATE HOUSECAT SIEL 21560

SUPER handsome SIEL was brought to AAS from the community, and he's so friendly, we think he was someone's pet before. He was adopted in February, but was recently returned for biting his owner. The bite was very small, and SIEL was being fed at the time. It's possible that he was excited about mealtime, or surprised by his owner quickly moving his hand. In the shelter, SIEL loves being petted, and is comfortable being picked up. Loud noises bother him, and he can be reactive to being startled. We would love to see SIEL out of this environment through either adoption or foster. He may be fine with other cats, but slow and proper intros are a must. He needs someone with cat experience who understands his behavior and will work with him.
