

DESPERATE HOUSECAT ZOEY 30364

To say that ZOEY doesn't like the shelter environment is an understatement! It could be that she doesn't like other cats, or the fact that she's been living in a home her entire life. Either way, ZOEY needs out of her kennel soon, either through adoption or foster. Her owner described her as playful and friendly. She sometimes likes to be by herself, but otherwise she's a lap cat. She is shy with new people, and is especially afraid of men (although she will eventually warm to them). ZOEY needs a quiet environment as the only pet with someone who will give her plenty of time to relax. Once she decompresses, she will be a wonderful companion.
